

Reader's Theater Script for
Shoe Town, by Janet Stevens and Susan Stevens Crummel

	Readers
Narrator	Little Mouse	Tortoise
Hare	Little Red Hen	Big Bad Wolf

Narrator: There was a little mouse who had a little shoe. When her babies grew up, she knew just what to do.

Little Mouse: I'll fill a hot bath, then I'll take a long nap.

Narrator: Just then at her shoe came a rap-tap-tap-tap.

Tortoise: We are Tortoise and Hare. We just went for a run.

Hare: Can we stay here with you...in your shoe? Oh, what fun!

Little Mouse: My shoe is too little for so many to share. Look for a shoe, if you please. It can go over there. Now I'll fill a hot bath, then I'll take a long nap.

Narrator: Just then at her shoe came a rap-tap-tap-tap.

Little Red Hen: I'm the Little Red Hen. And I love making bread. Is there room in your shoe for one more?"

Narrator: She said.

Little Mouse: My shoe is too little for so many to share. Look for a shoe, if you please. It can go over there. Now I'll fill a hot bath, then I'll take a long nap.

Narrator: Just then at her shoe came a rap-tap-tap-tap.

Big Bad Wolf: I'll huff and I'll puff and I'll blow your shoes down—if you don't let me stay in your little shoe town!

Little Mouse: Don't huff and don't puff. We'll be happy to share. Look for a shoe, if you please. It can go over there.

Narrator: More and more friends came. The little town grew. And to think it began with a mouse and her shoe!