Narrator 4: All day, every day, the Stonecutter worked. He cut the stones and he put them in his cart.
Narrator 1: One day the hot sun beat down upon the Stonecutter.
Stonecutter: How I wish I could be strong and powerful like the Sun.
Narrator 1: Said the Stonecutter.
Narrator 5: Now it just so happened that a mountain spirit lived nearby.
Narrator 2: When the mountain spirit heard the Stonecutter’s wish, he decided to grant him the wish.
Narrator 3: The Stonecutter became the Sun!
Stonecutter: Look at me! I am the Sun! I am powerful! I am strong! I am the most powerful thing in the world!
Narrator 4: Just then a Cloud floated in front of the Stonecutter.
Stonecutter: With that Cloud in front of me, I cannot shine brightly. The Cloud is more powerful than the Sun. How I wish I were a Cloud!
Narrator 2: And as before, the wish was granted and the Stonecutter became a Cloud.
Stonecutter: It is fun to be a Cloud. I can rain upon the mountains and gardens. I am very powerful.
Narrator 3: Just then a strong Wind blew and pushed the Cloud across the sky.
Stonecutter: The Wind is so strong. It is stronger than a Cloud. How I wish I could be the Wind!
Narrator 1: And as before, the wish was granted and the Stonecutter became the Wind!
Stonecutter: It is grand being the Wind, for I am so strong and powerful!
Narrator 2: Then the Wind bumped into the Mountain.
Stonecutter: Aha! The Mountain is stronger than the Wind! I wish to be a Mountain!
Narrator 3: And just like that, the Stonecutter became a Mountain!
Stonecutter: Look at me! I am a strong and powerful Mountain!
Narrator 4: Just then, the Stonecutter felt something. He looked down and saw a man with a chisel and a hammer. The man was cutting the stones from the Mountain and placing them in his cart.

Stonecutter: Who dares to cut away at this Mountain? I see now that the Stonecutter is stronger than any Mountain. How I wish that I could be a mighty Stonecutter!

Narrator 5: His wish was granted.

Narrator 2: The Stonecutter cut stones from the mountain and put them in his cart.

Narrator 4: He worked hard all day with his hammer and his chisel and he said...

Stonecutter: I am a mighty Stonecutter. I am strong and powerful!

Narrator 1: And then the Stonecutter never made another wish.
